ASSIGNMENT NO 08

ASSIGNMENT NO 08

The image displays two screenshots of the phpMyAdmin web interface, showing database management operations on a MySQL database named 'phplogin'.

Top Screenshot: The 'Structure' tab is active for the 'user' table. It shows the table's structure with columns: 'kf' (int(255)), 'username' (varchar(20)), and 'password' (varchar(10)). The table contains one row with values: '1', 'Shreyas', and '1234567890'. The 'Query results operations' section is visible, showing options like Print, Copy to clipboard, Export, Display chart, and Create view.

Bottom Screenshot: The 'Structure' tab is active, showing the table's structure. The 'Save' button is highlighted, indicating a save operation. The 'Go back to previous page' button is also visible.

Database Structure (from both screenshots):

Column	Type	Function	Null	Value
kf	int(255)			1
username	varchar(20)			Shreyas
password	varchar(10)			1234567890
